Stubbs and Barnes Certainly Elected. Populists and Republicans Combined May Have a Dogen in the Legislature.

The estimate given by The Times on 40,000, scems to be fully sustained. These figures now look more like fifty odd thousand. It will, however, be several days before the exact figures can be given. The majority is large enough and the Democrats are not worrying whether it will hover around the forties

The Times' special reports continue to sustain the estimate that the Democrats will probably lose but one or two senators. will probably lose but one or two senators. The defoal of Mr. Holt, in the Twenty-seventh district, is not fully conceded. The Sixth, comprised of Floyd, Carrell and Grayson, is still in doubt. Dispatches last night, from Tazzwell, said it was almost certain that the Democratic senator was elected in that district. It will be seen that The Times special from West Point, settles the fact of the election of Mr. Barnes, in the Thirty-eighth, as well as that of Mr. Stubbs, in the material and the senators. dery-ninth district.

THE SESSION OF THE WORLD'S CON-

An Extensive Representation in the Body.

ATLANTA, GA., Nov. 9 .- The World's Convention of Christian Workers was called to order shortly before noon in DeGives' Opera House, Rev. R. A. Torrey, of Chicago, Ill., presiding. The operahouse was beautifully decorated with flags of all nations. A number of mottoes were displayed on the walls, the central one having received the adoption of the convention, and reading as follows: "Christ alone can save the World, but Christ can't save the World alone."

Christ can't save the World alone."

Long before the opening hour the opera house was crowded to its utmost capacity with delegates and citizens generally. A number of elevated seats were arranged on the platform, and these were occupied by more prominent delegates.

This is the largest gathering that has ever been entertained in this city. It is estimated that 1,500 delegates have already arrived and more are expected during the week. After devotional exercises this morning, which began at 9:30 o'clock, addresses of welcome were delivered for the State of Georgia and the South, by Governor William J. Northen, for the Christian ministry of the city by Rev. J. Robins; for the local Executive Committee by Rev. C. P. Williamson and J. F. Barclay; for the city by Ex-Mayor W. A. Hemphill; for the press by L. L. W. A. Hemphill; for the press by L. L. Knight, of the Atlanta Constitution; for the Young Men's Christian Association by Mr. W. M. Lewis.

The addresses left no doubt as to At-lants's cordial hospitality. The annual address of Chairman Torrey followed, and was an able resume of the past work of the convention.

Among the prominent delegates in the city are Rev. E. P. Hammond; Rev. Josiah Strong, D. D., of New York; Rev. Thomas Bone, of Ontario, Canada, and a number of other Christian workers. A more intelligent, earnest and business-like convention never assembled in this city. Among the stage decorations this finorning were several stalks of cotton plant, which attracted considerable interest, and which were inspected after the morning session with considerable curiosity.

Brunswick based her withdrawal of the appeal for aid on the assurance of Dr. Bowen, in the presence of the Relief Committee, Surgeon Murray and the Morning News correspondent, that the portion of the New York relief train intended for Brunswick, would consist of ten carloads of provisions and sup-plies, among them being 1800 blankets. With this amount of supplies assured by a staff correspondent, Brunswick did not believe it just to receive any more contributions from the country at large. For what has already been sent and is en route, she is thankful and apprecia-tive. Her people will not again appeal for aid, but will endeavor to distribute the charitable gifts from a generous public in a manner to permit no suffer-ing. The gentleman quoted to-day re-garding the "Woodmen of the World" matter, says an error was made by the correspondent in stating that he could get no health certificate. He says that he can get a health certificate, and be reinstated by the lodge, but the amount assessed for reinstating members is so large, that abandonment of the entire scheme would be better for him.

LIVELY SCENE IN COURT.

A Lawyer Seites a Memorandum Book Used by a Witness.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Nov. 9 .- There was a lively scene in the Iron Hall litigation to-day. Ex-Supreme Accountant Walker was put on the stand and questioned as to the order's finances, the purpose being to show that all claims were promptly paid, and that assessments were always made on the basis of anticipated claims. These, he said, were always sufficient, and the order was at no time prior to the appointment of the receiver insolvent.

He drew from his pocket a book containing a private memorandum of the

Again the attorney took the book, declaring that he did not propose to be in-sulted by the witness. Judge Howe, for the defendants, demanded the return of the book, and after some warm words the court gave the book to the witness, but said that it nust not again be used during the trial

Attorney Harris accused Judge Howe of unprofessional conduct, and when the atter offered to apologize, Attorney Haris refused to accept any explanation.

The bitter feeling between the attorneys hat was developed in the original sult that was developed in the original suit is again cropping out, and the court is obliged to mediate from time to time. All the testimony taken to-day touched upon the condition of the order at the time the receivership suit was instituted.

THE TAX ON TOBACCO.

SEFERAL MANGUACTURERS ARGUE AGAINST AN INCREASE,

Mr. J. F. Risor, of Danville, Says the Committee is /after Two Things, Money and Votes_Other Speakers.

WASHIN'STON, D. C., Nov. 9 .- "You are after two things, gentlemen, money and votes. This is a family affair and we can talk plainly about it."

So spoke Mr. J. F. Rison, of Danville, Va., one of the tobacco men, in his argument, against an increase of the tax on manufactured tobacco, before the Ways. and Means Committee, this afternoon. The eleven gentlemen representing the manufacturers of tobacco were before the Cymmittee and argued at some length. tagainst any increase in the tax on this supposition, based, as they say, upon newspaper paragraphs, that such increase was contemplated. The members of the House Committee present were Chairman Wilson and Representatives McMillan, Bynum, Montgomery, Bryan, Turner, and Breckinridge, of Arkansas. The gentlemen representing the tcbacco interests were Dr. T. B. Spence, chairman, Cheinnati Mr. Liggett, St. Louis; H. C. Nail, Louisville; R. J. Reynolds, Winston, N. C.; Mr. McGignis, New York city, E. H. Miller, J. F. Rison and J. O. Covington, Danville, Va.; Otto E. Sayder, Chicago; Charles Davis, Covington, Ky.; Mr. Partilett, Ballimore, and Theodore E. New York.

Dr. Spence, of Cincinnati, who is a large manufacturer of tobacco, was the first speaker. He made an elaborate argument against an increase over the present tax of six cents per pound. He also urged the committee to repeal the provision of the law putting leaf tobacco on the free list, on the ground that free leaf tobacco did not benefit either the grower or consumer, and kept the government out of an annual revenue amounting to at least $1,500,000. An increase in ing to at least $1.50,000. An increase ha the existing tax would, he said, compel an entirely new system of packages at an enormous expense to the manufacturers, while if the same quality of tobacco was retained, the consumer would receive less. This, he said, would work a Eardship to the laboring classes, for they consumed almost seven-eights of the they consumed almost seven-eights of the manufactured product.

Theodore E. Allen, of New York, secretary of the Trade-mark Association; Mr. McGinnis, of New York, and Mr. Legett, of St. Louis, spoke in endorsement of what Mr. Spence had said, the latter gentieman starting the discussion in a new channel with the statement that he believed the retail leaf dealers should pay the same tax per pound imposed. pay the same tax per pound imposed upon the dealer in the manufactured

Mr. Miller, of Danville, Va., warned the committee that the subject of free leaf tobacco was of vital importance to the people of the Virginias and the Carolinus, as it was doing much damage to the tobacco industry in those States. The free leaf law had, he thought, miscarried, and instead of the farmer getting any benefit from it, the advantage went. ried, and instead of the farmer getting any benefit from it, the advantage went to the dealer. In response to a question by Mr. Montgomery, Mr. Miller denied that free leaf tobacco extended the markets of the grower, and he did not know of a single farmer in the States of Virginias and the Carolinas who favored free leaf.

Then it was that Mr. Rison gaye utterance to the sentiment expressed above. He discussed the question from a political standpoint and made the positive assertion that if the tax on manufactured tobacco was increased, the result would be disastrous politically. The money the committee wanted, to which he referred, was, of course, the revenue for the government. The votes were presumed. government. The votes were presumed to refer to Democratic votes, but Mr. Rison entered into no explanation. He did say, though, that the farmers in that section of the country believed an increase of the tax would ruin them and that if the committee decided upon an increase, nothing could keep the growers

Mr. Bryan, of Nebruska, was anxious to know just how long such a rumor had been heard, but before the speaker could reply, some one said: "Since the election," and Mr. Rison's answer was lost in a of laughter.

shout of laughter.

Mr. Spence took a hand in the political phase of the discussion. The polity of the Democratic party, he said, had always been in the direction of reduced taxation. Even McKinley advocated the abolition of this tax, and he asked the committee not to go back on the party's record by increasing this tax. The country would reap large revenues from a low tax would reap large revenues from a low tax on tobacco. It was impossible to judge from other countries what the tax should
